Decisions and Destiny

One day, a person asked another,
"If you could choose to be a loser or a winner, what would you choose?" He said, "I would choose to be a winner."

Then he asked, "If you were already a loser, would you stay the same or choose to be a winner?"
He said, "I would choose to be a winner."

Finally, he asked, "If you were already a winner, would you stay a winner or become a loser?" Again, he said, "I would choose to stay a winner."

This shows that the person always chose to be a winner, but his situation each time was different.
Sometimes we have many choices.

Sometimes only one. And sometimes we just want to keep what we have. Everyone's path in life is different, even if the goal is the same.

Because decisions are not taken for the future, today's decisions make the future

Right or wrong, every decision we make, based on where we are and what we face, moves us forward.
Not today, not tomorrow, but one day, all those decisions will take us to our destination.

friendship with strangers can change your life, and becoming strangers to your friends will save your life."

He thinks he sees me, but he doesn't know how much I wish he'd truly notice me.

He thinks he smiles at me, but he doesn't know how much I crave
to see him smiling.

He thinks he talks to me, but he doesn't know how deeply I long for the day he truly speaks to me.

He thinks I'm just another girl he knows, but he doesn't know he's the only one I want in my life.

He doesn't know that every moment, my heart waits—to see him, to talk to him, to be with him.

G.Ashritha

"When I see you, my heart races.

When I'm beside you, my breath slows.

Your look of love lights up my life, and your smile fills my soul with joy.

A simple word from you freezes my world in that perfect moment.

Every time I see you, I long to see you more, to talk to you, to spend time with you.

If not a lifetime, then at least a moment, a moment so precious that it becomes part of my last seven minutes."

Life is like a cricket game,
Each role we play is not the same.

As a batter, face each ball,
"Hit your goals or stand tall."

As a bowler, aim with care,
"Focus on your target; you'll get there."

As a fielder, watch and wait,
"Grab the chances that come your way."

As an umpire, choose what's right,
"Your decisions can change the fight."

Play your part with all your heart,
Life, like cricket, is a work of art.

The image features a light beige background with delicate watercolor-style illustrations of pink roses and green leaves in the top-right and bottom-left corners. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some showing yellow centers. The text is centered in the middle of the page.

"Like a flower in the morning light,
Shine with love and shine so bright.
With your soul, pure and true, Let the world see the best in you."

Places, People, and Stories

In life, we travel to different places and meet people with unique thoughts, beliefs, and dreams.

Some places feel comfortable,
while others may not.

Some teach us valuable lessons,
and some give us precious memories.

Some places bring friends who touch our hearts.

Every place holds a story that stays with us forever.

While some places are easy to leave,
others are difficult,

because we can carry only memories
not the places themselves.

In every place we visit, we meet people:

someone who makes life easier,

someone who values and respects us,

someone who helps us discover who we truly are,

someone who shows us the meaning of love,

someone who teaches us how to love, and someone who reveals the true worth of friendship.

Some places give only memories,
but others gift both people and memories,
each memory holding a beautiful story that words cannot describe one that can only be felt and experienced.

It is not the places we remember,
or the paths we have walked,

but the hearts we have touched,

the love we have shared,

and the stories we carry inside always with us, always ours.

The background of the image is a landscape photograph. The top half shows a clear, deep blue sky. The bottom half shows a vibrant orange and yellow sky, likely from a sunset or sunrise, with soft, wispy clouds. In the very bottom, there are dark, silhouetted mountain ranges.

"INVESTING TIME IN THE WRONG PERSON IS A WASTE, BUT WHEN THE RIGHT PERSON
COMES AT THE WRONG TIME, FATE TIES
YOUR HANDS. THE TRUE MAGIC LIES IN
MOMENT."

Siva is powerful, strong, and true.
Siva is patience, calm like night.
Siva is truth, yet also deep.
Siva is pure, eternal and boundless.

Siva is breath, the essence of life.
Siva is soul, beyond all sight.
Siva is life, and Siva is death.
Siva is love, forever bright.

Siva is time, the past, present, and future.
Siva is start, Siva is end.
Siva is everything, near and far.
Siva is Lord of Lords, divine and wise.

Siva is earth, steady and strong.
Siva is sky, vast and free.
Siva is air, soft yet grand.
Siva is water, pure and deep.
Siva is fire, brave and bright.

Siva is Shakthi, the endless force.
Siva is Bhakthi, the soul's true course.
Siva is Maya, the illusion and the reality.
Siva is magic, the unseen divine play.

When there is nothing, Siva is everything.

Har Har Mahadev!

"Success isn't about how the world sees you;
it's about how you
see yourself."

"Sometimes, overthinking is better. It pulls you out of the original situation that truly hurts."

The Hope Within Dark

Darkness is something no one wants to face.
But without dark, there can be no hope for light.

Dark gives us hope—
that when it comes,
light will surely follow.

If dark were a color,
in the form of strength, it is Kali.
In the form of courage, it is Shiva.
In the form of love, it is Krishna.

Dark is not just about the absence of light;
it is the symbol of the unseen,
of nothingness we cannot know or touch.
It marks the beginning—reminding us that even in nothingness, there is dark, and even in dark, there is silence—
a silence that gives us hope for a new beginning.

Dark is not ordinary.
It is the hope for tomorrow,
the courage to face it,
and the strength to fight for the light.

The Way of Accepting

In the phase of accepting everything,
Accepting that it does not belong to me.
Accepting that what I want is not wanting me.
Accepting that whom I love does not love me back.

Accepting that I am alone.
Accepting that I feel unworthy.
Accepting that I am not important in the lives of those who are important to me.
Accepting that the love I give to someone is given to someone else.

Accepting that no one may treat me the way I treat them.
Accepting that everything can sometimes feel like nothing.

Yet even in this phase, one hope remains:
Everything I am accepting is for my own good.

Acceptance is not about how we look at things —
It is about the freedom it brings.
When you accept things as they are, you will find peace.

Whether you accept it or not — Acceptance is the way of living.
